DESCRIPTION:

November is Indian Heritage Month in North Carolina. In honor of this recognition, the public is invited to participate in the 15th Annual Native American Cultural Festival – We Sing And Dance Because We Can....Echoes of Our People! Cultural presentations will include: The Aztec Dancers of Mexico City; Daniel Tramper (Eastern Band of NC Cherokee), World Champion Hoop, Eagle & Fancy Dancer, Traditional Music – Flute and Drumming, Dancing – Hoop, Grass, Jingle, Fancy, Shawl and Traditional.

Experience Native American arts and crafts for children and adults, storytelling, face painting and traders with a variety of traditional cultural items for sale. The Guilford Native American Art Gallery will feature a photography exhibition by Sue Vaughan, When the Leaves Turn and the Lumbee Dances its Pow Wow in the City. Enjoy a traditional meal of Indian taco and fry bread.

The festival is co-sponsored by City Arts of Greensboro Parks & Recreation and Guilford Native American Association.
