Thursday, October 4th, 6:30-7:30 pm

Trees and Shrubs – Children & Adults, free

Trees and shrubs form the framework of your home landscape. Learn what you need to know about choosing and caring for the right woody plants for your garden. Registration: 375-5876

Wednesday, October 10th, 6:00-7:30 pm

Fall Foliage – Teens & Adults, $2

Join us on a guided hike to witness the abundant beauty of fall in North Carolina. Learn how and why leaves change their colors, and the conditions necessary for the best foliage viewing. Registration: 373-3802

Tuesday, October 16th, 6:30-7:30 pm

Container Gardening – Teens & Adults, free

Plant containers can create year-round focal points in the landscape. They can fill in late summer “holes” in the border, or dazzle the eye during the holidays. They also allow gardeners to experiment with new plants and color combinations. Learn simple design principles, how to prepare your container for planting, which plants to select, and how to care for your planted container. Registration: 375-5876

Saturday, October 20th, 10:00-11:00 am

Today’s Catch – Teens & Adults, free

Join our qualified fishing instructors for fish identification and beginner lessons about the freshwater fishing opportunities in our area. Learn about the life cycles and habitats of the different fish of NC, as well as the benefits and disadvantages of using natural versus artificial bait. Basic fishing safety and legal considerations will also be covered. Registration: 373-3802

Friday, October 26th, 6:00-7:30 pm

Marvelous Mammals – Children & Adults, $2

Mammals are much more than fuzzy bunnies and furry pets. Did you know that birds are not mammals? Some mammals are predators, while others are eaten by almost every animal under the sun. Some mammals are even venomous. From whales to shrews, join us for a class on the topic of mammals, and we’ll convince you that mammals are more than they seem to be. Children, 12 years and under, must be accompanied by a paying adult. Registration: 373-3802
