DESCRIPTION:

Rocks & Minerals: November 1, 6-7:30 pm, $2
Learn about the types of rocks around you and how they got there.

Snakes Are Beautiful: November 6, 6:30-7:30 pm, $2
Some think all snakes are scary and vicious, but not true! Find out which ones make good pets and why you should let them slither about their business in your yard.

Beginning Fly Tying: November 12, 6:30-9:30 pm, $45
This one-night class covers the basics of fly tying, starting with the tools, materials needed and how they are used. Learn the four fly patterns currently in use today - - dry flies, nymphs, wet flies and streamers. Class covers a wide variety of techniques and participants will leave the class with a basic understanding of materials and techniques that are needed to tie most basic fly patterns.

Recycling in Greensboro: November 14, 10-11 am, Free!
Discover how easy it is to recycle and keep the "green" in Greensboro!

Fall Foliage: November 14, 6-7:30 pm, $2
Find out how leaves change from green to brown and every color in between, and then take a hike around Bur-Mil Park to see some great colors!

Good Trees, Bad Trees: November 19, 6:30-7:30 pm, $5
Choosing the right tree for your yard can be confusing. This class covers topics such as plant selection, quality, planting methods and more.

Household Wildlife: November 27, 6-7:30 pm, $2
Find out what kind of four (six and eight) legged creatures are best suited to indoor life and which ones may already be there.
