"No Food"

Editor of the Daily News:

Most of us rejoiced when a little man in India, Gandhi, went quietly through the land calling for passive resistance to national wrongs.

Many of us were impressed and expressed admiration when a preacher, Martin Luther King, organized what could have been a mob into an orderly effective sit-down strike.

Now let us commend our own college students who quietly day by day sat at a lunch counter to remind all of Greensboro that they are denied a basic right, "I was hungry and ye gave me no food."
