

Doughnut Firm Serves Negroes

Approximately 11 young Negro girls were served after they sat down at stools at the Krispy Kreme Doughnut Co. on South Greene Street yesterday afternoon.

Waitresses at the Krispy Kreme treated the matter as routine.

Negro pickets showed up briefly in front of the Woolworth, Kress and Meyers stores.

The Negro girls at the Krispy Kreme seemed to be younger than the college students who have been active in sitdown demonstrations at lunch counters here.
