

it would for a member of the white race to do so.

I am one of those who feels that we are not going to get far in the field of human relations until people of good will of all races and creeds are willing to sit down together and talk; not about race relations, maybe we have talked about that too much already. I feel that if we can just take this first step prayerfully the guidance and leadership will come for further action.

MRS. L. A. BROWN

Greensboro.

Sit Down Together

Editor of the Daily News:

For the past several weeks the main topic of most of the letters appearing in the Public Pulse has been the lunch counter demonstrations. Many things have been said pro and con. The mayor's committee has negotiated and failed to find an acceptable solution to the problem. I still strongly believe, however, that there must be somewhere in Greensboro and throughout America a remnant of God's people who want to do something about our local and world problems in the area of human relations.

I am a Negro woman and it perhaps does not take the courage for me to make the suggestions that I am about to make as